School Description

School Description

Howells-Dodge Public Schools is a fully accredited Class III school district in Northeast Nebraska, located approximately 40 miles equidistant from Columbus, Norfolk and Fremont. The Pre-K through 1st grade and the 7-12 high school students attend the Howells site. The 2nd through 6th grade students attend school at the Dodge site. Agriculture is the primary industry of the area with crops and livestock being the major sources of income.

The Howells-Dodge school district currently enrolls 252 students with 151 of those in grades 7-12. In addition to the public school, there is a parochial system in each town. The district enjoys an exceptional student/teacher ratio of approximately 10/1.

Most of Howells-Dodge Schools' graduates pursue degrees in higher education, either at a 2-year Community College or a 4-year College. The remainder of the graduates enters either the work force or the military.
