Coronavirus pandemic changed everything

When Howells-Dodge students walked out the school doors on Thursday, March 12, they had no idea that it would be their last regular school day of the 2019-2020 school year. Covid-19 cases began to multiply in Nebraska. Nebraskans were urged to stay home, wash their hands, wear a mask, socially distance using the six-foot rule, keep group activities under 10 people, shop alone once a week, help the elderly and children, and exercise daily (following social distancing rules).

Governor Ricketts eventually ordered schools to shut down until May 31. Superintendent Mark Ernst and Principal Cole Fischer were kept very busy making plans to handle the coronavirus response for our school. Teachers began online teaching using Zoom, Google and Canvas. Students studied and did assignments at home. The Food Service personnel provided breakfasts and lunches for families to pick up. No school activities or sports could take place and students missed the opportunity to do all those things that happen in the Spring. Things definitely changed.

Thanks to everyone...students, staff, administrators, parents, community members, and medical professionals for doing your part to help fight the Coronavirus. Stay safe, Jaguar Nation!

FFA sponsored a Tractor Parade on March 29

The Howells-Dodge FFA Chapter had planned to do their annual Tractor Parade during National Ag Week March 22-28. Due to the school closure, the parade could not be held as planned. On Sunday, March 29, the FFA members scheduled a “Social Distancing” Tractor Parade at 3:00 p.m. The tractors were driven around Howells and then the group traveled to Dodge to drive the streets there.

“Beacon of Light” held April 15

On Wednesday, April 15, Howells-Dodge Consolidated honored the 2020 seniors and medical professionals by turning on the football field lights from 8:20 - 8:40 p.m.

Why the exact time? 20:20 for 20 minutes for the Class of 2020. Schools from around Nebraska participated in this activity during April. The public was encouraged to drive down to the football field during that time and to honk to show their support!

Food Service Staff provides food for students
